Lee County High School Computer Science Teacher Joy Neace explains a Lync message board to members of the Kentucky General Assembly's Interim Joint Committee on Education. The committee held its monthly meeting at the high school Monday. The legislators were given tours of the vocational school and the high school. Neace explained the TEALS program, sponsored by Microsoft, that gives students hands on experience. Shown left to right are Rep. Jody Richards of Bowling Green, Committee Co-chair Rep. Derrick Graham of Frankfort, Committee Co-chair Sen. Mike Wilson of Bowling Green, Neace, and two other unidentified committee members.

Respiratory virus affecting children

Lee County has so far not received any reports of a respiratory virus that is affecting young people in 10 states including Kentucky.

Vivian Smith, director of the Lee County Health Center, said that no reports had been received as of Monday.

However, the state Cabinet for Health and Family Services did confirm that the disease, known as the EV-D68 virus, has appeared in the state.

According to Beth Fisher, spokesperson for the cabinet, "Healthcare providers in Central Kentucky recently observed an uptick in respiratory illness, the severity of which varied widely. Samples were submitted for testing to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and results showed five positive cases for enterovirus 68.

"There are no vaccines for preventing EV-D68 infections. However, preventive techniques are recommended to prevent the spread of disease. Frequent hand washing using warm, soapy water for at least 20 seconds is recommended and individuals should avoid touching eyes, nose and mouth with unwashed hands. Also avoid close contact, such as kissing, hugging, sharing cups or eating utensils with people who are sick and frequently disinfect touched surfaces, such as toys and doorknobs, especially if someone is sick.

"Individuals affected by EV-D68 have experienced mild to severe respiratory illness. Medical attention should be sought immediately if an individual is experiencing difficulty breathing." Children are those most affected by the illness.

CNN reports that 900 children were treated at a Denver children's hospital, and 73 at a Columbus, OH children's hospital.

In addition to Kentucky, the states reporting the illness are: Colorado, North Carolina, Georgia, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Sally Gilbert

City selects Gilbert as clerk

Revenues dip during August

Sally Gilbert of Sugar Camp in Owsley County is the new Beattyville City Clerk. Mayor John Smith introduced Gilbert at Monday night's regular city council meeting. He asked for, and received, approval of her hiring by the council.

Gilbert holds a bachelor's degree in accounting from Sullivan University and a Masters in Business Administration from Morehead State University. She worked for Experience Works for over 11 years, and then worked in Jackson

Smith said that Gilbert's first day of work was August 28.

Also during the meeting, Smith reported that the General Fund was in the red by $19,238 for August, and he expects September to also be difficult. The reason, he said, is a period when revenues are slow.

However, the fund is $3,048 in the black for the year to date.

Garbage and sewer both had good Augusts. Sewer, though is $11,075 in the red for the year. Smith said there have been some substantial expenses.

Water was in the hole by $75 for August, but is $12,992 in the black for the year.

Smith said the sewer and drainage work in West Beattyville is proceeding, and should be completed in a couple of weeks. Sidewalks will also be poured.

He told the council that the state is looking at conducting a traffic study on the By-pass at Center Street.

Bob Smith asked for, and received, approval to close Main Street at 4:30 p. m. on October 23 for the Woolly Worm Festival. He also asked that the city provide cleaning up services and police presence during the festival.

Linda and Jim Brandenburg told the council that they plan to sell their business (Brandenburg Furniture), and wanted the members to know if they knew of anyone who might want to buy it.

Southside bids half million over plan

Renovation and construction at Southside Elementary is to be delayed by a month because bids for the first phase have come in $500,000 over estimates.

At the regular meeting of the Lee County School Board Tuesday night, the project architect told the board that several more weeks would be needed before a bid can be recommended.

Tim Murphy said that he had asked the finance firm, Ross Sinclair, to see if other funding is available, and he and the construction manager are to be looking at all of the bids to see if there are any items showing up more than once, and to see that the scope of work is correct.

Once those things are determined, Murphy said, he would meet with the board to decide where to go next. If no alterations can be made in financing or bids, the amount of work in the first phase might have to be trimmed.

The board only has $2.4 million in bonding potential for the first phase, which is primarily classroom expansion.

The project is necessary because Beattyville Elementary is to be closed, and all elementary students will be moved to a larger, renovated Southside that will be called Lee County Elementary.

The board agreed to move its October meeting from Tuesday, October 14, to Thursday, October 9.

Murphy will make his presentation at that meeting.

Also during Tuesday night's meeting, Steve Carroll told the board that data from the state test taken last spring is still embargoed, and will probably not be available for several weeks.

The principals reported that they have been looking at some testing performed so far this year. Those results are to be used as a baseline for the rest of the school year.

Director of Pupil Personnel Ray Shuler reported that attendance in the district stands at 95.41 percent. That is up slightly from the same time last year when it was 95.21 percent.

Enrollment, he said is at 1,016. That is four more than at the start of the school year, but down from 1,051 at the same time last year.

Shuler also gave the schools annual energy report.

He said that 223,048 square feet of building space is heated/cooled in the district. The cost for electricity during the 2012-13 school year was $206,391; natural gas $28,235; and propane $50,984 for a total expenditure of $285,910.

Shuler said that is $18,672 more than the previous year, and he believes it is due to the increased cost of utilities and a more severe winter.

Lamont Coldiron

Lamont Coldiron was introduced and sworn in as the newest member of the school board. He fills an open position.

Lee, Owsley near bottom in KIDS COUNT

Lee and Owsley counties rank near the bottom in the 2014 KIDS COUNT Data Book released Tuesday by Kentucky Youth Advocates. The book, the 24th annual, provides a picture of the well being of children throughout the state.

Overall, Lee County ranked 115 and Owsley 117 out of the state's 120 counties.

Children in poverty from 2008 through 2012 stood at 53 percent for Lee County and 41 percent for Owsley.

A high rental cost burden was true for 84 percent of Lee County children during 2014, and 72 percent for Owsley youth.

The book says that 62 percent of Lee kindergartners and 61 percent of Owsley kindergartners were not ready to learn during School Year 2013-14.

The percentage of eighth graders not proficient in math during School Year 2012-13 was 55 for Lee and 73 for Owsley.

Women who smoked during pregnancy from 2010 through 2012 stood at 44.9 percent in Lee County and 43.8 percent in Owsley.

Low birthweight babies born during that period were 11.7 percent in Lee and 13 percent in Owsley County.

Lee County had 23 percent of births during 2010-12 to mothers without a high school degree. Owsley's percentage was 25.9.

Children in single-parent families from 2008 through 2012 stood at 33 percent in Lee County and 27 percent in Owsley County.

"We saw much success from state leaders to help kids and families during the 2014 legislative session," said Dr. Terry Brooks, executive director of Kentucky Youth Advocates. "We hope this book is a tool for state and local leaders to build on that success and continue to implement solutions that keep kids safe, health, and secure."

Bless the Lord oh my soul and all that is within me, bless His holy name. In the Amplified Bible, it reads thus, "Bless (AFFECTION-ATELY, gratefully praise) the Lord, O my soul; and all that is [deepest] within me, bless His holy name! Bless (affectionately, gratefully praise) the Lord, O my soul, and forget not [one of] all His benefits." Psalm 103:1-2.

Then as we read further, VII, "For as the heavens are high above the earth (picture that in you mind, I've been on a plane and as it rises to 30,000 feet the expanse of the heavens are indescribable), so great are His mercy and loving kindness toward those who reverently and worshipfully fear Him." Verse 12, "As far as the east is from the west, so far has He removed our transgressions from us. (Remember this verse applies to Verse 3 which says who forgives [everyone of] all your iniquities.)"

Verse 13, "As a father loves and pities his children, so the Lord loves and pities those who fear Him [With reverence, worship, and awe]."

Verse 14, "For He knows

our frame, He [earnestly] remembers and imprints [on His heart] that we are dust."

The Message Bible says in Psalm 103:17-18, "God's love, though, is ever and always, eternally present to all who fear him, making everything right for them and their children as they follow his covenant ways and remember to do whatever he said."

Fear in this context relates to honor, respect and awe, even worship. Psalms 12:6 says the words and promises of the Lord are pure words, like silver refined in an earthen furnace, purified seven times over.

Jeremiah 29:11 NKJ says, "For I know the thoughts I think toward you, says the Lord, thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope." (And, He is not a respecter of persons.)

Jesus says in Matthew 11:28, "Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Verse 29, "Take my yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle (meek) and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls."

Hear that?

FOOD SPIRITUAL

Jesus said to his disciples, "Feed my sheep." (John 21:15)

Peter said, "Feed the flock of God." (I Peter 5:2)

"Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them."

Jesus said, "I am the bread of life."

PHYSICAL

There is both spiritual and physical food. We thank God for the food he daily supplies us. Jesus has promised us food and raiment.

SOURCE SUPPLIER

God is the one who supplies both our physical and spiritual food. We may get our groceries at Jack's or Save-A-Lot, but it is God who is the source and supplier. God is good all of the time.

Do we suppose to feed the deer. They have sure been fed in my garden. I talked to Doug Brandenburg who said they had been eating his. I don't think we are to abuse the deer. I think they rather abuse us. I just missed one last night, a big one.

Eye to Eye

with David Blandford, M.D.

JUST A SCRATCH?

Your first impulse after getting poked in the eye or otherwise scratching your cornea may be to self-treat it with an eye patch. While this may seem to be a good way to ease the accompanying pain, research indicates that initial use of eye patches slows healing and does not reduce pain. As a result, eye doctors may forego the use of eye patches or use them only sparingly. Since corneal abrasions do not affect vision to a great extent, it is rather pointless to condemn patients with scratched corneas to monocular (one-eyed) vision. Foregoing the use of an eye patch helps corneal abrasions heal more quickly on the first day following the injury.

Most corneal abrasions are preventable. Levels of protection include plastic safety glasses, polycarbonate lenses of varying thickness, industrial safety goggles with polycarbonate, as well as helmets with facemasks. At KENTUCKY EYE INSITUTE, we stress preventive health care for the entire family. We’re located at 540 Jett Drive, where we will discuss all the available options with you. We’re currently accepting new patients and welcome you to call 606-666-9393 to schedule an appointment. We provide professional and personalized eye care for the entire family. We specialize in “EYE CARE FOR ALL AGES.”

P.S. Having a corneal abrasion treated by the ophthalmologist is important because treatment may involve the use of antibiotics to reduce the risk of potentially serious infection.
